FRANCIS H. SEISSON, vice-president of the Guaranty Trust Company, repeats what has often been said here, that the big problem is not production but distribution.

Business is on the verge, Mr. Seisson does not agree with that distinction between political and economic, which says "business is looking up, but on its back looking up."

Mr. Seisson reminds merchants that with adequate advertising, goods can be sold at a lower price than without advertising. First, have what the people want, then let them know you have it.

Consider Mount Blanc, nice mountain in Switzerland.

Trails Blazed All Over Western Canada; Total Mail Despatched Huge

Premier Brownlee and Mayor Douglas Wish Outgoing Pilot Goodspeed on First Leg From Edmonton—Prefect Take-off

Precisely at 12:15 today the huge, yellow Super-Fokker airplane, as speedily in her lines as a racehorse, the drone of whose engine had been reverberating around the Edmonton airport for some fifteen minutes or more, moved forward, gathered speed as she taxied down the long runway, lifted, and sped away into the blue of the eastern horizon, bearing Pilot Con Farrell and the first load of air mail to leave the city on the opening run of the western air mail service.

The plane carries some 210 pounds of mail in eight bags, made up largely of collectors' letters and some business mail. The actual number of letters total in the neighborhood of 16,000.

No passengers are being carried, the only person on the plane being the pilot. No mechanic is taken on the flights between Edmonton and Regina. Passengers can be carried on these flights, as no restrictions are imposed by the post office which will prevent this being done, but the Western Airways Ltd. has announced that until the mail is running on exact schedule passengers will be dispensed with.

Pilot McLaren Arrives Here

Arriving practically on schedule time at 2 o'clock, the incoming plane, from Regina, piloted by Pilot McLaren, brought 143 pounds of mail to Edmonton.

This was promptly transferred to a waiting motor truck and taken to the Edmonton post office.

Pilot McLaren effected a good landing, and after a short stay in the city, he will be on his way back to Regina tomorrow.

TWO PLANES WILL BE LOCATED HERE

There will always be two of the Super-Fokker P-14 planes based at the Edmonton aerodrome, the one for service between the city and Regina, and the other for service between the city and Winnipeg.

Premier Brownlee and Mayor Douglas, who were on the plane, wished the pilot good luck on his trip, and the plane was then on its way back to Regina.

In addition to the mail, Pilot McLaren carried a number of letters from the city to Regina, and a number of letters from Regina to the city.

A MIGHTY FORCE IN CANADIAN BUSINESS.

Daily Newspapers of Canada

THE daily newspaper is indispensable to the efficient, orderly operation of Canadian business. From coast to coast, manufacturer, distributor and retailer depend on its sales influence to maintain a constant flow of goods from maker to merchant and from merchant to consumer.

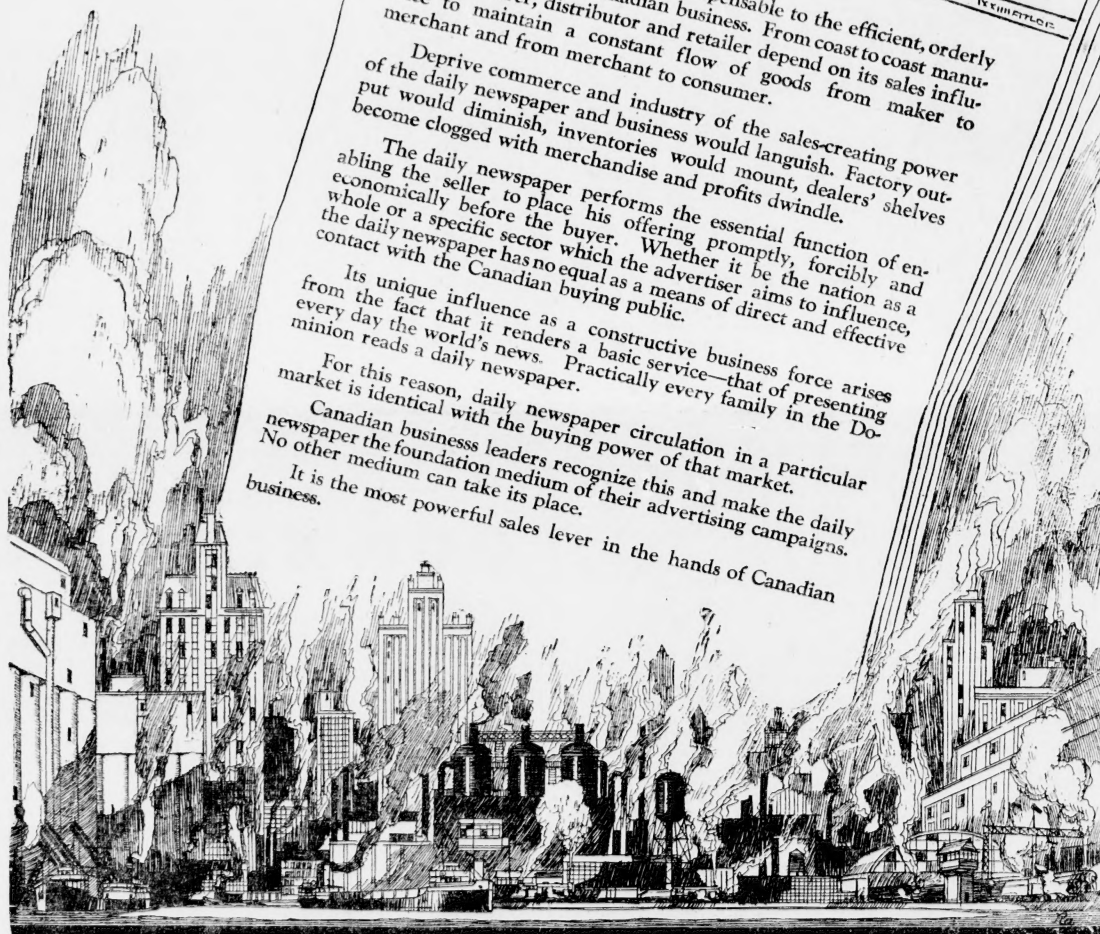

Deprive commerce and industry of the sales-creating power of the daily newspaper and business would languish. Factory output would diminish, inventories would mount, dealers' shelves become clogged with merchandise and profits dwindle.

The daily newspaper performs the essential function of enabling the seller to place his offering promptly, forcibly and economically before the buyer. Whether it be the nation as a whole or a specific sector which the advertiser aims to influence, the daily newspaper has no equal as a means of direct and effective contact with the Canadian buying public.

Its unique influence as a constructive business force arises from the fact that it renders a basic service—that of presenting every day the world's news. Practically every family in the Dominion reads a daily newspaper.

For this reason, daily newspaper circulation in a particular market is identical with the buying power of that market. Canadian business leaders recognize this and make the daily newspaper the foundation medium of their advertising campaigns. No other medium can take its place.

It is the most powerful sales lever in the hands of Canadian business.

Jim McLarnin Victor Over Mandell Liberals to Select Parley Delegates

Vancouver Irishman Takes Decision in Chicago Bout

Coast Batter Wins Every Round to Decisively Beat Lightweight Champion — Had Mandell on Verge of Knockout Twice During Fight

CHICAGO, Ill., March 3.—Jimmy McLarnin, the "Dublin Dynamite," gave Sammy Mandell, world lightweight champion, the most convincing defeat of his career in his ten round battle, fought in the Chicago Stadium, Saturday night.

McLarnin, a leading contender for the world's welterweight title, won every round, forcing Mandell on the defence from start to finish.

Mandell's title was not at stake as the battle was fought at catch weights. The expected difference in poundage in the two men diminished sharply, however, when they scaled at two o'clock Saturday afternoon. McLarnin had only a 2½-pound weight advantage, scaling 142½, with the lightweight champion weighing in at 140, five pounds above the lightweight limit.

UNABLE TO HAND
KNOCKED ON MANDELL

McLarnin had Mandell in evident distress twice during the blistering bout, but was unable to land a knockdown. Mandell's marvellous ring generalship and defensive tactics paid him out of a dozen tight spots and possibly saved him from a knockout.

Mandell, thoroughly beaten, made a courageous jump in the tenth round that the crowd of 14,000 thought to be his last in a valiant effort to save his title.

This last minute rally when he threw his defence to the winds and traded punches for punches with his lighter foe, probably was the cause of his defeat. Mandell, during the fight, was the more active of the two men, but he was on the receiving end of some of the most vicious blows of the fight in the ropes, in an attempt to knock him out.

Always in Demand

McLarnin, the welterweight, has been in demand for some time. He was a contender for the world's welterweight title, but was unable to land a knockdown. Mandell's marvellous ring generalship and defensive tactics paid him out of a dozen tight spots and possibly saved him from a knockout.

After pulling up points in the intermediate rounds, with his right hand, McLarnin cut loose again in the sixth, seventh and eighth rounds, scoring his most vicious blows on the head of his opponent. Mandell's defence was excellent, but he was unable to land a knockdown.

From then on it was the McLarnin who was the aggressor, and he was on the receiving end of some of the most vicious blows of the fight in the ropes, in an attempt to knock him out.

Under No Anxieties

McLarnin was made ready to fight Mandell with Young Jack Thompson, the champion of the world, but he was unable to land a knockdown.

WEAK MARKET: LOWER PRICE AT WINNIPEG

No Week-end Exports At Liverpool Cause Break

WINNIPEG, Man., March 3.—Depressing week-end news related what prices in London today and when the Winnipeg exchange closed values declined 2 1/2 to 4 cents a bushel. Liverpool prices, weak because of a number of cargoes not being shipped, caused a withdrawal of U.S. grain from the market. The cause of the Winnipeg break was May and July futures which fell 1/2 cent and October went as far as four cents down at the close.

Early support, when the market opened, drove prices up, but failed to hold and further weakness followed. Trading was not of large importance except in the opening hour or two. The Buenos Aires market is closed today and tomorrow.

Through shippers' demand for wheat was fairly good, offerings on the market in the high end of the scale were small. Demand from the east for wheat, oats and barley was fair with offerings light.
